COURSE DESCRIPTION

The purpose of this course is to help students understand key ideas in microeconomics and how they can be applied to managerial business problems. The course develops capacity to analyze an organization's economic environment, to understand the constraints this environment places on the organization's pursuit of its goals, how these constraints may change with time, and to apply economic reasoning to decision making. The course will discuss the following topics:

- Market equilibrium; supply and demand.
- How do firms learn about demand and costs?
- How can firms price their products effectively?
- How do firms interact strategically with others?
- How do firms and governments interact in the presence of environmental and other externalities and market failures?

COURSE FORMAT

This course will comprise readings, video lectures and live discussion and exercises. Evaluation will entail online quizzes, a group essay assignment, and an online exam.

LEARNING OBJECTIVES

After successfully completing this course, students should be able to:

1. Apply economic principles to solve a range of managerial problems;
2. Determine optimal production levels and prices for a profit-maximizing firm operating in different market structures, and explain the effect of market structure on the firm's potential profits;
3. Show how a firm with market power can use advanced pricing strategies to increase profit;
4. Use game theory to analyze strategic interactions among firms;
5. Understand the economics of multisided platform businesses;
6. Understand how public policy can influence firm behaviour to correct for market failures;
7. Explain how information asymmetries can lead to market failure.

ASSESSMENTS

Summary

Component	Weight
Group project	20%
Quizzes (best 4 of 5)	40%
Final exam	40%
Total	100%

Details of Assessments

Group Project (20%)

Group essays are intended to further your understanding of how firm behaviour is informed by economic principles and public policy in real-life applications. Essays will be written by teams of four students, who can collaborate on the research, discussion, and writing. I will form teams on Canvas. Each essay is limited to 1500-1800 words (plus figures and references). Teams may choose their topic.

Grades will be based on the economic content, the quality of the analysis, and the quality of communication. Grades will be out of 20 points. Additional instructions will be made at the time of the assignment.

Quizzes (40%)

There will be five online quizzes, to be completed after each week. The quizzes will be worth 10% each and will be based on only the material covered in the preceding week. Students' top four quiz scores will count, while the lowest quiz score will be discarded.

Final Exam (40%)

The final exam will include both quantitative and qualitative questions. It will consist of multiple choice and short-answer questions. Partial credit will be granted for answers to the short-answer questions that show evidence of learning even if the answer is incorrect or incomplete.

LEARNING MATERIALS

Required: All readings will be available on Canvas. There will be a mix of textbook, lecture note, and applied readings. The textbook readings are excerpted from:

COURSE-SPECIFIC POLICIES AND RESOURCES

Missed or late assignments, and regrading of assessments

Late submissions will not be accepted and will receive a grade of zero.

Academic Concessions

If extenuating circumstances arise, please contact the RHL Graduate School program office as early as reasonably possible, and submit an Academic Concession Request & Declaration Form

<https://webforms.sauder.ubc.ca/academic-concession-rhlee>. If an academic concession is granted during the course, the student will be provided options by RHL, or by the instructor in consultation with RHL, per UBC's policy on Academic Concession.

POLICIES APPLICABLE TO COURSES IN THE ROBERT H. LEE GRADUATE SCHOOL

Attendance

Excepting extenuating circumstances, students are expected to attend 100% of their scheduled class hours. Absent students limit their own academic potential, and that of their classmates, and cause unnecessary disruption to the learning environment. Students missing more than 20% of the total scheduled class hours for a course (including classes held during the add/drop period) without having received an academic concession will be withdrawn from that course. Withdrawals, depending on timing, could result in a “W” or an “F” standing on the transcript.

Punctuality

Students are expected to arrive for classes and activities on time and fully prepared to engage. Late arrivals may be refused entry at the discretion of the instructor or activity lead. Students arriving later than halfway through a scheduled class will be treated as absent for that class.

Electronic Devices

Devices such as laptops, tablets, and cell phones are not permitted to be used in class unless directed by the instructor for in-class activities. Students who do not follow the School’s policy in this regard may be required to leave the room for the remainder of the class, so that they do not distract others. Research shows that students’ use of laptops in class has negative implications for the learning environment, including reducing their own grades and the grades of those sitting around them.

Citation Style

Please use the American Psychological Association (APA) reference style to cite your sources.

UNIVERSITY POLICIES AND RESOURCES

UBC provides resources to support student learning and to maintain healthy lifestyles but recognizes that sometimes crises arise and so there are additional resources to access including those for survivors of sexual violence. UBC values respect for the person and ideas of all members of the academic community. Harassment and discrimination are not tolerated nor is suppression of academic freedom. UBC provides appropriate accommodation for students with disabilities and for religious observances. UBC values academic honesty and students are expected to acknowledge the ideas generated by others and to uphold the highest academic standards in all of their actions. Details of the policies and how to access support are available on the UBC Senate website at <https://senate.ubc.ca/policies-resources-support-student-success>.

Academic Integrity

The academic enterprise is founded on honesty, civility, and integrity. As members of this enterprise, all students are expected to know, understand, and follow the codes of conduct regarding academic integrity. At the most basic level, this means submitting only original work done by you and acknowledging all sources of information or ideas and attributing them to others as required. This also means you should not cheat, copy, or mislead others about what is your work. Violations of academic integrity (i.e., misconduct) lead to the breakdown of the academic enterprise, and therefore serious consequences arise and harsh sanctions are imposed. For example, incidences of plagiarism or cheating may result in a mark of zero on the assignment or exam and more serious consequences may apply if the matter is referred to the President’s Advisory Committee on Student Discipline. Careful records are kept in order to monitor and prevent recurrences.
