NOTICE OF A TEMPORARY TEACHING POSITION, 2014

The Institute for Early Childhood and Research (IECER), in The Office of Graduate Programs and Research (OGPR), the Faculty of Education, UBC, is looking for a temporary instructor to teach ECED 421: Supporting Young Children Through Home, School, and Community Relationships for the 2013/14 winter term two (January to April, 2014). This course will be offered online.

Duties will include online teaching (ongoing communication with students), marking course assignments, and reporting grades.

Applicants for the above course must have:

- A graduate degree (master's level or higher) in the field of Early Childhood Education or a related field.
- Experience teaching adults in face-to-face and online environments.
- Knowledge of research and deep understanding of the connection between early education, family and community.
- Experience teaching young children.
- Experience working with families within a community context.

With the letter of application, candidates should include a C.V. (including current home address, phone number, and email) with professional and teaching experiences and evaluations (where available). Applicants should also include the names of a minimum of two referees with their addresses and phone numbers.

This position is subject to funding and is governed by UBC's Poliy #42 "Faculty Term Appointments Without Review".

UBC hires on the basis of merit and is committed to employment equity. All qualified persons are encouraged to apply. We especially welcome applications from members of visible minority groups, women, Aboriginal persons, persons with disabilities, persons of minority sexual orientations and gender identities, and others with the skills and knowledge to engage productively with diverse communities. Canadians and permanent residents of Canada will be given priority.

Please send letters of application to:

Iris Berger, Undergraduate Coordinator
