

LINKEDIN WORKSHOP

NOVEMBER 29, 2017 (WED)

12:00nn–1:00pm ▪ PCOH 2012

Hosted by Dr. Isabeau Iqbal

As a graduate student, you are also a professional keen to grow your career and connect with others in your field. LinkedIn is a popular social network which can help you do that! In this workshop, I will: 1) Provide an introduction to LinkedIn; 2) Review the main features of LinkedIn which are useful for graduate students seeking to grow their careers and network; 3) Offer 5 tips for getting started on LinkedIn.

Participants will leave with a solid grasp of how LinkedIn can help them grow their career and will have several tools to begin to create a strong “profile” on this platform.

This workshop is for those who are new to LinkedIn. Though we will not be working on your individual profiles during the workshop, you are welcome to bring your laptop to the workshop.

RSVP

<http://blogs.ubc.ca/edstgaa/events/>

Deadline: November 28, 2017

ABOUT THE SPEAKER

Isabeau Iqbal, Ph.D

Coach | Trainer | Facilitator

<https://ca.linkedin.com/in/isabeauiqbal>

Dr. Isabeau Iqbal enjoys multiple roles and a lot of variety in her professional life. She is a Gallup Certified Strengths Coach who helps individuals and teams discover and use their strengths so they can enjoy fuller careers. She has a geeky side interest in LinkedIn and finds pleasure in sharing what she knows with others.

At UBC, Isabeau works as an educational developer at the Centre for Teaching, Learning and Technology.

Isabeau received her PhD from the Faculty of Education at UBC. Her research interests are in the area of teaching and learning in education, and in how faculty members grow as instructors.