A classroom scene. A teacher in a black dress stands on the left. Three students are seated at desks: a boy in a green shirt, a girl in a purple dress, and another boy. A green chalkboard is in the background.

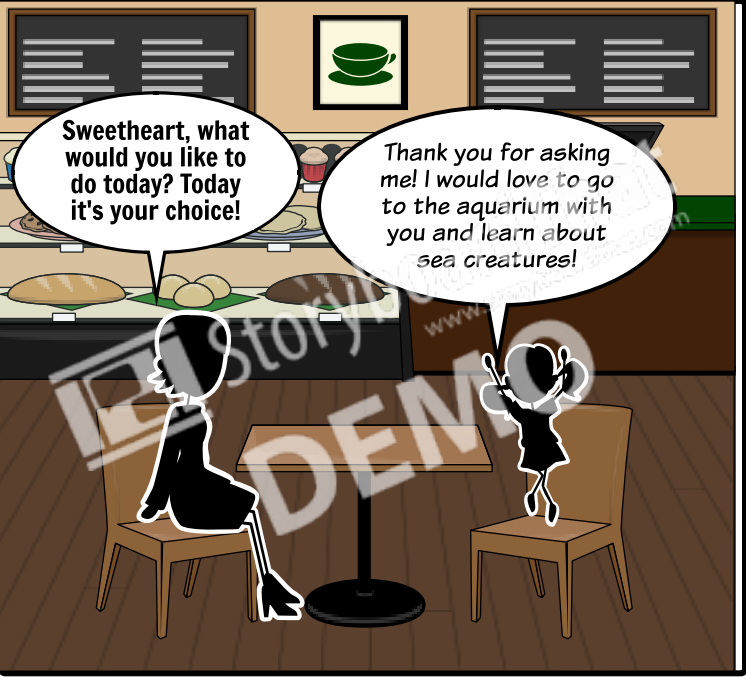

My students are so well-behaved and are just like me when I was a student. They're sitting quietly and following directions.

A hallway scene with blue lockers. A woman in a black dress is talking to a man in a black suit.

It's great, thanks. They're working quietly on their worksheets and learning what I want them to learn.

How is your class going so far?

It's ok to lose control sometimes and let them explore their own questions.

A restaurant scene. A woman in a black dress is seated at a table. A young girl in a black dress is standing on a chair, talking to her.

Sweetheart, what would you like to do today? Today it's your choice!

Thank you for asking me! I would love to go to the aquarium with you and learn about sea creatures!
