

Graduate Pathways to Success and Centre for Student Involvement and Careers present: Getting the Interview- How to Make Your Application Stand Out

November 21st, 1:00 PM – 3:00 PM

Diamond Family Lecture Theatre

BC Cancer Research Centre, 675 W. 10th Ave.

Do you want to significantly increase the chances of getting the interview as opposed to just applying and hoping? Don't get lost in piles of resumes ever again! The application process can be tricky and one small mistake can lose any chance of an interview. Learn how to maximize each step and get the interviews you want.

Facilitator: Matthew Heiydt is the Centre for Student Involvement & Careers Recruiter in Residence. Over the past 8 years, Matthew Heiydt has been dedicated to helping companies hire and retain quality and qualified people. From a numbers perspective - Matthew has managed 1,000 + permanent recruits, interviewed 2,000 + candidates, and worked with over 300 + companies in recruitment and on-boarding initiatives.

When the discussion revolves around Hiring, On-boarding, and general People Planning, Matthew is someone you should be talking to.

He has worked in private industry, held multiple management positions, and has acted as a career advisor within education. He has been a public speaker on topics such as "Recruitment Best Practices", "How to work with a Recruiter", and his favourite topic "Generations in the Work Place". Matthew is currently President of BackStretch Consulting Group <http://www.backstretch.biz/>. BackStretch is a new recruitment alternative that delivers quality and time savings at a justifiable price point for the long term growth of Canadian companies.

Registration: Priority will be given to UBC graduate students registered in the current academic session. To register, visit: <https://www.surveyfeedback.ca/surveys/wsb.dll/s/1g3a49>

For info on upcoming Graduate Pathways to Success Events, see: www.grad.ubc.ca/pathways

We appreciate the support of GrasPods for this event.