

CAN YOU MAKE A MAP?

ESRI Canada Scholarship 2021

$2000 award + software & training • Deadline March 1, 2021 • Open to current UBC students

Each ESRI Scholarship applicant should provide no more than three or four pages, two pages of text and one or two pages of graphics (maps, tables, figures, models, diagrams), outlining why they should receive the award. The text pages should describe the applicants' background in one paragraph and then detail their use of GIS, including when it was done and for whom. The graphics page(s) should include an exported image of the graphics that they have produced that illustrates the outcome of their analysis. Applications will be reviewed according to the clarity of the presentation, the level of GIS innovation, and the quality of the graphic presentation.

The scholarship consists of the following, to be provided by Esri Canada directly to the successful student candidate after they have submitted to Esri Canada a poster and a summary report (may be submitted as a story map) demonstrating their use of Esri technology:

1. A one-time payment of $2,000
2. A three-year term license of Esri's ArcGIS Desktop software for education and research use, which includes the following:
