About the Southern Interior Horticultural Show

The Southern Interior Horticultural Show is a new B.C. Ministry of Agriculture and Food delivered project organized in partnership with the tree fruit and grape industries and funded in part by the governments of Canada and British Columbia through the Sustainable Canadian Agricultural Partnership, a federal-provincial-territorial initiative. This show offers producers a unique opportunity to get the latest information on research, innovation and farming practices directly from industry experts.

This two-day event will cover a variety of important topics through extensive speaker sessions and an impressive tradeshow where exhibitors will showcase their products and services supporting the tree fruit and grape industries in B.C.

The Southern Interior Horticultural Show is seeking students to help foster an engaging and informative experience.

Volunteer Positions

The Southern Interior Horticultural Show is seeking volunteers to support event-related activities such as:

- Managing onsite registration and check-ins
- Running microphones in the audience during Q&As
- Checking attendance for pesticide recertification credits
- Helping attendees navigate the venue
- Other onsite support activities as needed

Poster Presentations

If you are an undergraduate or graduate student who would like to present a poster of tree fruit or grape related research at the Southern Interior Horticultural Show, please reach out to us at sihs@pacegroup.com to learn more about this opportunity.

Benefits

The selected students will receive free registration to the Southern Interior Horticultural Show, including full access to the conference and trade show.

Lunch will be provided on the day of their participation as volunteers or poster presenters.
