LMHIA Student entrance policy to Growers Short Course 2016

The LMHIA and the Pacific Agriculture Show encourages horticulture students to attend the Trade Show and the Growers Short Course.

The Trade Show is an excellent opportunity for all students - high school or college/university - to learn about the industry by visiting exhibitors. LMHIA can provide free trade show passes to high school students or post-secondary students upon request and on presentation of a student card at the General Admission desk.

The Growers Short Course contains in-depth material of benefit to active farmers and producers. The content is considerably more detailed than may be needed or useful to high school students but it would have value to post-secondary horticulture students. LMHIA offers a student rate of $30.00 for students wishing to attend the Short Course sessions. This fee includes trade show entrance.

Students would need to register on-site at the Horticulture Registration counter, show student ID and pay for a Short Course pass. Pre-registration is not available for students.
