Title: We used to go on Adventures

When we were young we used to go
on adventures
Rain or Shine

Rain or Shine,
when we
go
on adventures
We are young.
We used to...

We used to,
Rain or shine,
on adventures.
Were young
when we go...

Go!

We used to be young
when we
rain or shine
on adventures

On adventures
we go,
when we
rain or shine.
We used to be young.

We're young
on adventures.
Rain or shine,
we used to
go.
When we...

We are young on adventures Go, we used to When...? Rain or shine.

There was a man who had wife.
He planned for them, a lovely life.
Their plans to travel

And now he lives a life of strife.

Far away
Floating drifting
High up, above us all Leaving behind problems and grief
Goodbye

Title: What I would give

When's your life full of adventure?
When together.

What carried you to your lover?
My heart's flutter.

What would you give to save your wife?
My life

Alone, I face a world of strife
There is nothing I would not give To take her place and have her live
When together, my heart fluttered, my life

The music so soft
The piano so gentle
The impact profound

Stars need gazes
Gazes welcome wishes Wishes offer hope

Title: Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow

Yesterday I was in a state of peace as your presence filled my void Yesterday I was comforted by the warmth of your embrace Yesterday I was full because you gave me the love I did not know I needed

Today I am in a state of conflict, your presence is no longer felt Today I am forlorn as I sit alone staring at the image of us, once happy Today I am empty because the love you gave me has now vanished

Tomorrow I will wonder what our life could have been, had you just stayed with me Tomorrow I will mourn the loss of you, and Tomorrow I will try to move on from you, but moving on from you is one thing I am not sure I can do
