

Task 6: An emoji story

I recently watched this movie with my students, so it is a kid's movie. 🚪👉☀️

The plot revolves around the main character who is a little

Self - Reflection:

This was quite tricky to even think of how to use emojis to write the title and describe the plot of the movie. I hardly use emojis except for the smiley/sad faces, which I often use excessively.

This put me at a disadvantage, since probably anyone who is an avid emoji user will find this task a breeze. Using these pictorial shortcuts made me wonder about how this relatively new tool for communication can be powerful, but also alerted me to a more sinister outcome, which is the demise of the written language. Are emojis dragging us back to the olden days or are emojis an evolution of older languages such as hieroglyphics?
