LAB_04-Example: Third Draft of Research Project Materials

Student Name: Student Number: God stuff. There's just some specific formatting now as per what is posted on connect for tomorrow. Scenario A Ohn and Judy are approaching their first year anniversary of their romantic, monogamous relationship. They are coming up to a major turning point in their relationship and are looking back on the times they've spent together. They both rated their first date as enjoyable, which was a strong indicator that they would have a good start to their relationship. Like every couple, however, they've had their ups and downs. The result of their relationship. Like every couple, wetwer, they stay together or whether their relationship will fizzle out. Questions: A. How likely is the couple to become life partners? S. Very Likely Moderately Unlikely Not Likely or Unlikely Woderately Unlikely Woderately Unlikely Word Unlikely Wery Unlikely Not Likely or Unlikely Yery Unlikely Studerately Moderately Likely If this couple breaks up, how amicable would the break up be? Yery Amicable Wental Neural Aniagonistic Yery Antagonistic 	Good stuff. There's just some specific formatting now as per what is posted on Connect for tomorrow. Scenario A John and Judy are approaching their first year anniversary of their romantic, monogamous relationship. They are coming up to a major turning point in their relationship and are looking back on the times they've spent together. They both rated their first date as enjoyable, which was a strong indicator that they would have a good start to their relationship. Like every couple, however, they've had their ups and downs. The result of their relational experience could determine whether they stay together or whether their relationship will fizzle out. Questions: A) How likely is the couple to become life partners? 5: Very Likely 4: Moderately Likely 3: Not Likely or Unlikely 2: Moderately Unlikely 1: Very Unlikely B) If this couple breaks up, how amicable would the break up be? 5: Very Amicable 4: Amicable 3: Neutral 2: Antagonistic
Connect for tomorrow. Scenario A John and Judy are approaching their first year anniversary of their romantic, monogamous relationship. They are coming up to a major turning point in their relationship and are looking back on the times they've spent together. They both rated their first date as enjoyable, which was a strong indicator that they would have a good start to their relationship. Like every couple, however, they've had their ups and downs. The result of their relational experience could determine whether they stay together or whether their relationship will fizzle out. Questions: A) How likely is the couple to become life partners? 5: Very Likely 4: Moderately Likely 3: Not Likely or Unlikely 2: Moderately Unlikely 1: Very Unlikely 1: Very Unlikely B) If this couple breaks up, how amicable would the break up be? 5: Very Amicable 4: Amicable 3: Neutral 2: Antagonistic	Connect for tomorrow. Scenario A John and Judy are approaching their first year anniversary of their romantic, monogamous relationship. They are coming up to a major turning point in their relationship and are looking back on the times they've spent together. They both rated their first date as enjoyable, which was a strong indicator that they would have a good start to their relationship. Like every couple, however, they've had their ups and downs. The result of their relational experience could determine whether they stay together or whether their relationship will fizzle out. Questions: A) How likely is the couple to become life partners? 5: Very Likely 4: Moderately Likely 3: Not Likely or Unlikely 2: Moderately Unlikely 1: Very Unlikely 1: Very Unlikely 3: If this couple breaks up, how amicable would the break up be? 5: Very Amicable 4: Amicable 3: Neutral 2: Antagonistic	Student Name:	Student Number:
 John and Judy are approaching their first year anniversary of their romantic, monogamous relationship. They are coming up to a major turning point in their relationship and are looking back on the times they've spent together. They both rated their first date as enjoyable, which was a strong indicator that they would have a good start to their relationship. Like every couple, however, they've had their ups and downs. The result of their relational experience could determine whether they stay together or whether their relationship will fizzle out. Questions: A) How likely is the couple to become life partners? 5: Very Likely 4: Moderately Likely 3: Not Likely or Unlikely 2: Moderately Unlikely 1: Very Unlikely B) If this couple breaks up, how amicable would the break up be? 5: Very Amicable 4: Amicable 3: Neutral 2: Antagonistic 	John and Judy are approaching their first year anniversary of their romantic, monogamous relationship. They are coming up to a major turning point in their relationship and are looking back on the times they've spent together. They both rated their first date as enjoyable, which was a strong indicator that they would have a good start to their relationship. Like every couple, however, they've had their ups and downs. The result of their relational experience could determine whether they stay together or whether their relationship will fizzle out. Questions: A) How likely is the couple to become life partners? 5: Very Likely 4: Moderately Likely 3: Not Likely or Unlikely 2: Moderately Unlikely 1: Very Unlikely B) If this couple breaks up, how amicable would the break up be? 5: Very Amicable 4: Amicable 3: Neutral 2: Antagonistic		pecific formatting now as per what is posted on
 A) How likely is the couple to become life partners? 5: Very Likely 4: Moderately Likely 3: Not Likely or Unlikely 2: Moderately Unlikely 1: Very Unlikely B) If this couple breaks up, how amicable would the break up be? 5: Very Amicable 4: Amicable 3: Neutral 2: Antagonistic 	 A) How likely is the couple to become life partners? 5: Very Likely 4: Moderately Likely 3: Not Likely or Unlikely 2: Moderately Unlikely 1: Very Unlikely B) If this couple breaks up, how amicable would the break up be? 5: Very Amicable 4: Amicable 3: Neutral 2: Antagonistic 	John and Judy are approaching their relationship. They are coming up to back on the times they've spent tog a strong indicator that they would h however, they've had their ups and	a major turning point in their relationship and are looking ether. They both rated their first date as enjoyable, which was ave a good start to their relationship. Like every couple, downs. The result of their relational experience could
 5: Very Likely 4: Moderately Likely 3: Not Likely or Unlikely 2: Moderately Unlikely 1: Very Unlikely B) If this couple breaks up, how amicable would the break up be? 5: Very Amicable 4: Amicable 3: Neutral 2: Antagonistic 	 5: Very Likely 4: Moderately Likely 3: Not Likely or Unlikely 2: Moderately Unlikely 1: Very Unlikely B) If this couple breaks up, how amicable would the break up be? 5: Very Amicable 4: Amicable 3: Neutral 2: Antagonistic 	Questions:
		 5: Very Likely 4: Moderately Likely 3: Not Likely or Unlikely 2: Moderately Unlikely 1: Very Unlikely B) If this couple breaks up, how 5: Very Amicable 4: Amicable 3: Neutral 2: Antagonistic 	·

LAB_04-Example continued

Scenario B John and Judy are approaching their first year annive relationship. Prior to dating, they were classified as y a major turning point in their relationship and are lo- together. They both rated their first date as enjoyable would have a good start to their relationship. Like ev and downs. The result of their relational experience or whether their relationship will fizzle out.	good platonic friends. They are coming up to oking back on the times they've spent e, which was a strong indicator that they
Questions:
 A) How likely is the couple to become life part 5: Very Likely 4: Moderately Likely 3: Not Likely or Unlikely 2: Moderately Unlikely 1: Very Unlikely 	ners?
 B) If this couple breaks up, how amicable would 5: Very Amicable 4: Amicable 3: Neutral 2: Antagonistic 1: Very Antagonistic 	d the break up be?