Me? Smoking?

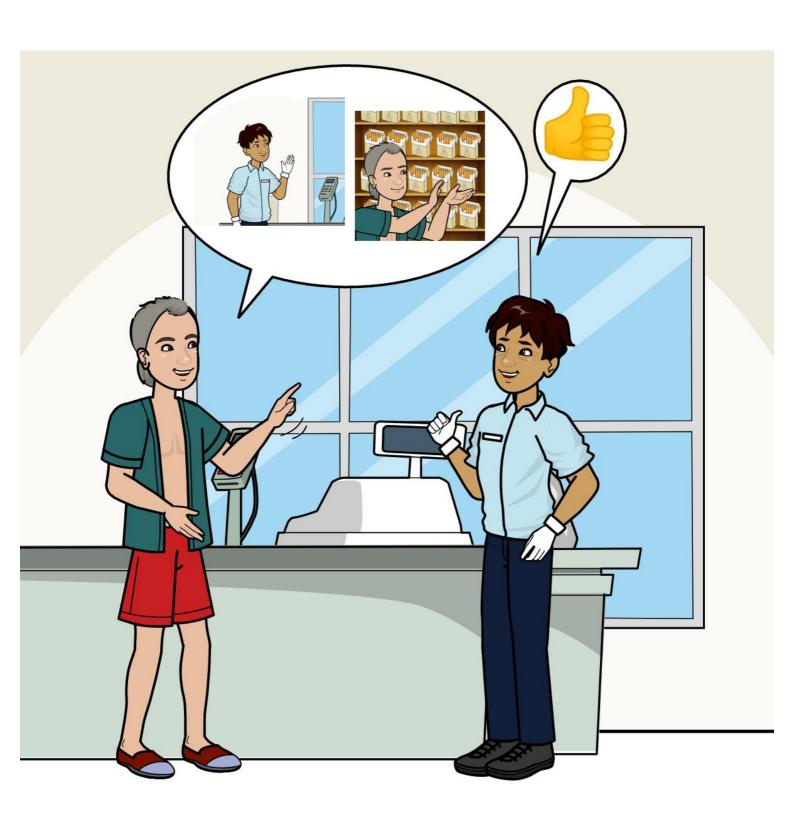

by Raiane Salles

This storyboard provides a chance to elicit the same verb 'smoke' in several different aspects and tenses: (a) the person used to smoke (past habitual); (b) the person smokes (present habitual); (c) the person was smoking (past progressive); (d) the person is smoking (present progressive); (e) the person smoked (perfective); (f) the person has smoke smell on clothes (result state). The goal is to observe what strategies the language you're working with will use to communicate those meanings. Enjoy!

Bob greets his employee: Good morning, John! John answers: Good morning, Bob!

Bob says: Today, you are on cash, and I'll go organize the stock. John says: Ok!

Bob goes to the stock room.

Bob is surprised, because the shelves are empty!

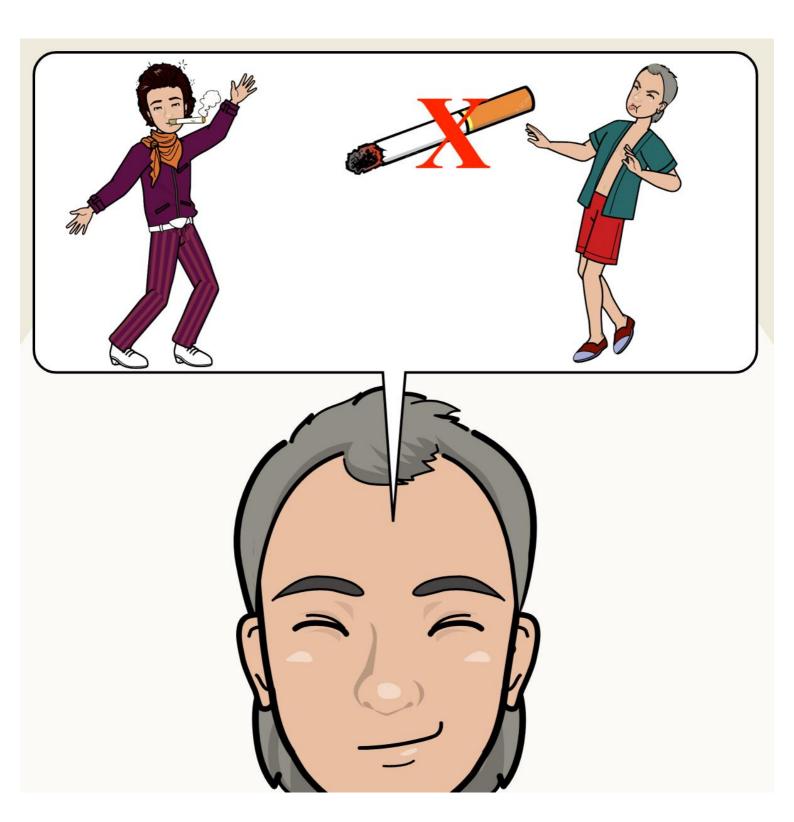

Bob asks John: Have we sold a lot of cigarettes? John answers: No, the till is empty.

John is thinking that Bob must have smoked them all!

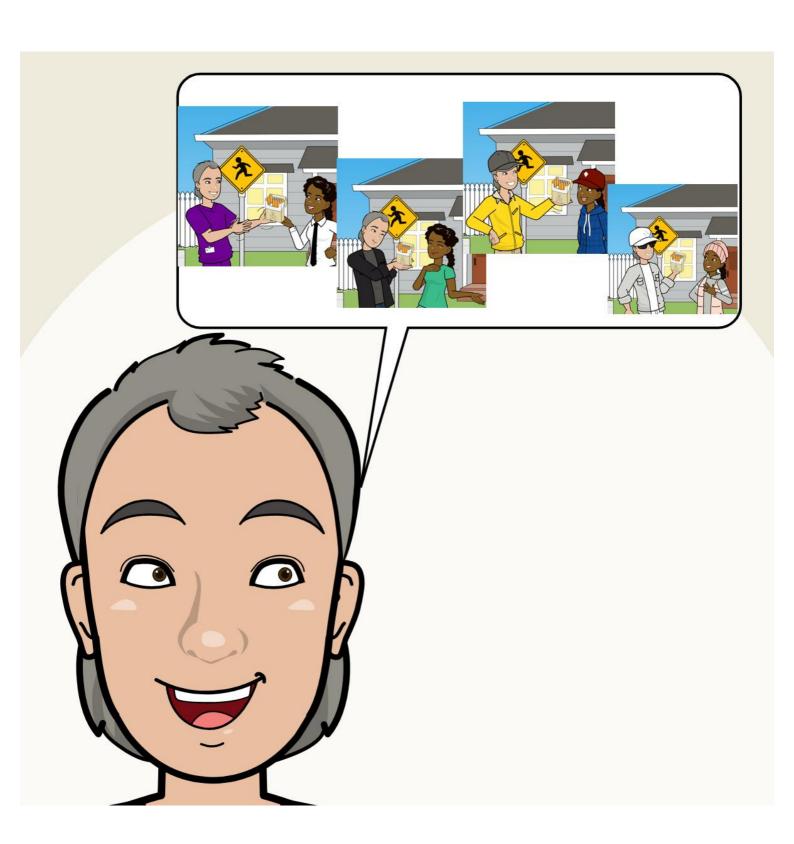

John asks: Did you smoked them all?
Bob says: Oh me? Smoking? Nooo, I don't smoke!

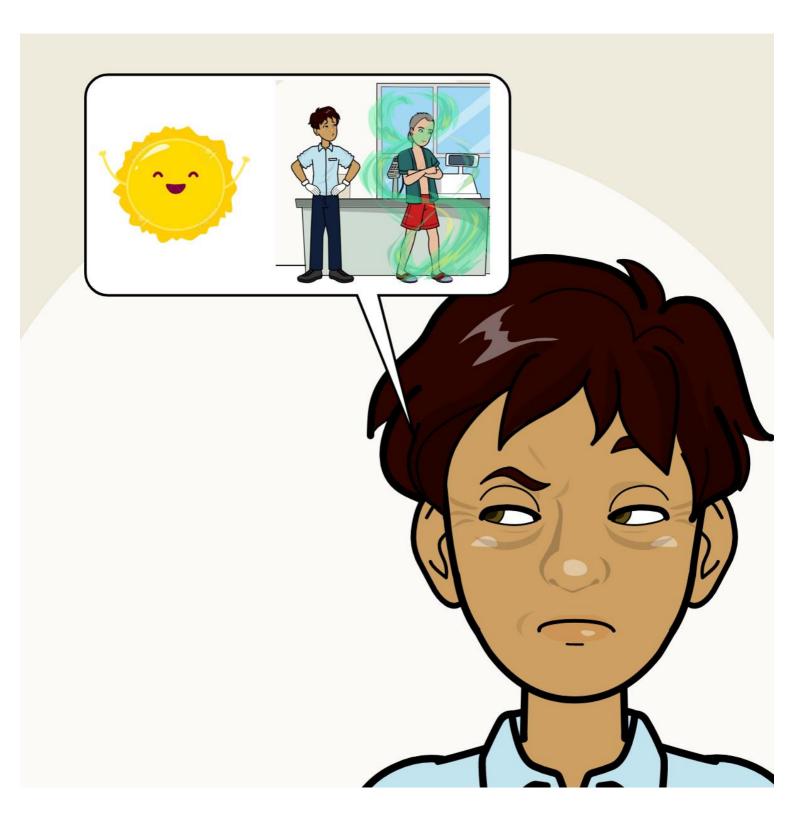

... I used to smoke but I quit.

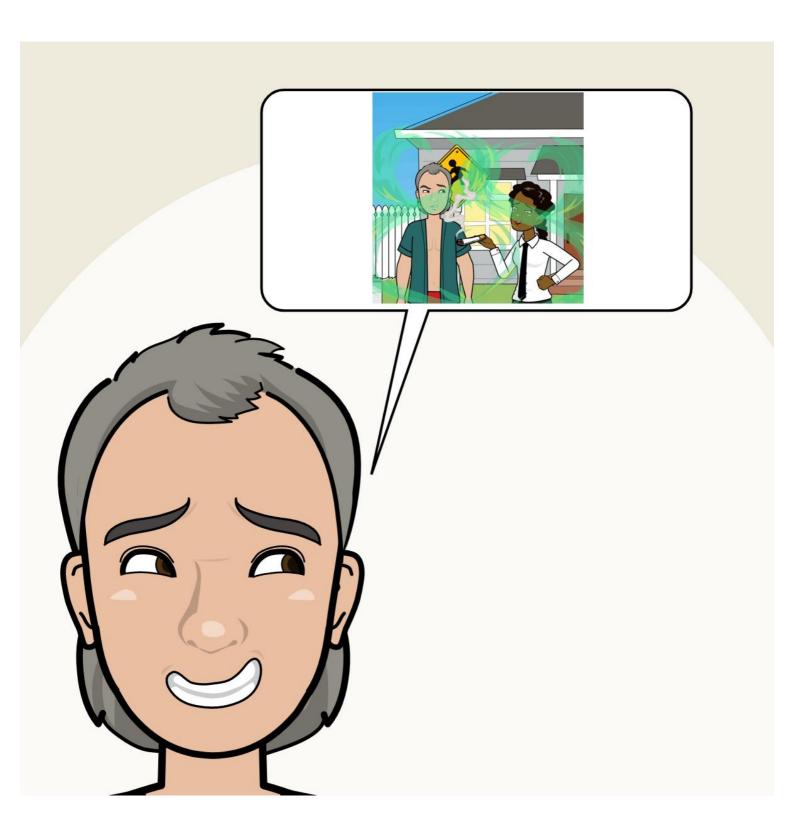

John: But I see you take a pack of cigarettes home every day after we close.

Bob: oh, my neighbour smokes, so I bring her packs as a courtesy.

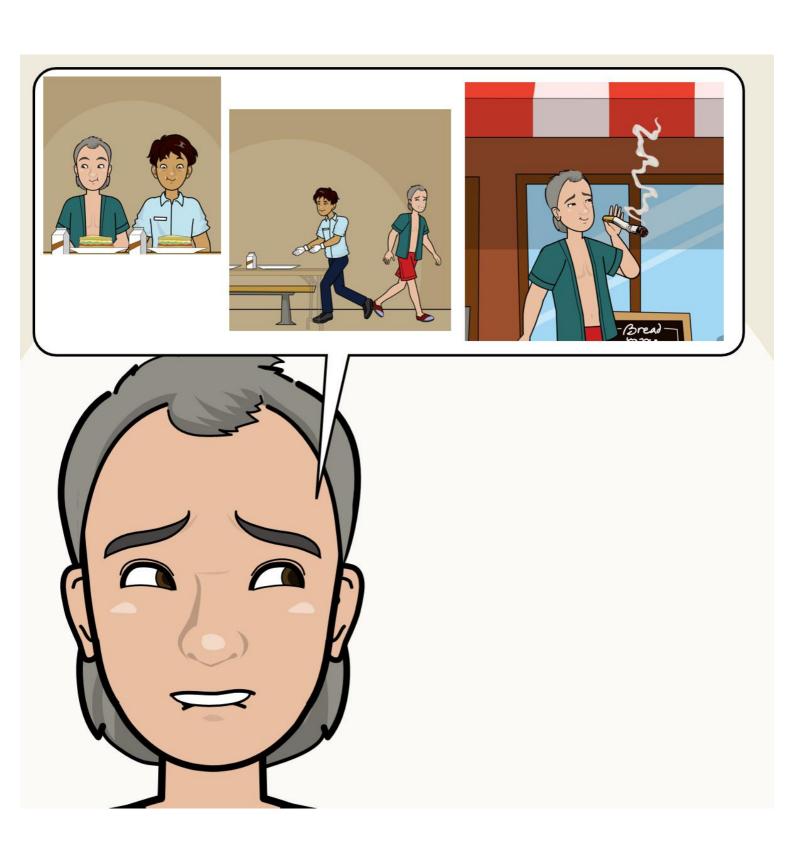

John: I smelled smoke on you this morning!

Bob: oh that's because my neighbour was smoking close to me this morning

John: you smell like smoke right now!

Bob: ok ok, I smoked a cigarette after lunch today

You're smoking right now!

Bob: Fine! I am! Because I am stressed about all the cigarettes being gone with no money in the till!
