Wandering merry minstrels spread news around small geographic areas

Ghe Gen Commandments are chiselled out in the (Diddle East

News travels by word of mouth

> Creation of phonetic symbols Early government produced news sheets distributed in China during the ħan dynasty

> > Regular newsletters are distributed among economically and politically powerful families

Oxford Gazette is published and is the first publication that meets all the criteria for a newspaper importantly it is available to all classes

Newspapers

are ubiquitous

the world over

Radio becomes a bugely popular medium for news transmission

Gelevisions hit the market and very quickly surpass radio as the medium of choice

> Ghe internet surpasses all other media and completely dominates the news delivery landscape

Cable news networks go on the air, able to cater to a much more narrow audience to include current events from all over the world

Dutch newsletters expand the scope of the newsletter