Professor Celia Morgan, Ph.D., holds a Chair in Psychopharmacology at the University of Exeter in the UK. Professor Morgan has spent much of her career researching the chronic and therapeutic effects of psychedelic drugs such as cannabis, ketamine, MDMA and ayahuasca. She is a leading researcher on the effects of ketamine use in humans, and her recent systematic review of the literature on ketamine as a treatment of addiction has received international attention. Please join us as we welcome her to speak on this fascinating topic.
